Little Rock Parents Resigned

No School This Year

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) —Most Little Rock high school students and their parents apparently are resigned to finishing this year without public schools.

"It's too late to do any good this year," said one mother. "My Billy is settled at a private school and he'll probably stay there because we couldn't be sure the public schools would stay open if they are reopened."

Thousands of parents who first had looked on the school closing as a temporary measure now are prepared to extend emergency educational provisions indefinitely.

Two thousand Little Rock students this week finished first semester work in schools in other communities. Another 1,100 are nearing mid-term at newly organized private schools here.

About 700 students, including 450 Negroes, remain out of classes altogether.

Community sentiment is divided on the school issue. Many prefer that the schools remain closed if integration is the only alternative.

The Little Rock school board has asked the U.S. district court here to permit reopening of the schools on a segregated basis until it can develop a plan for operating them in a manner acceptable both to the court and residents of the district.

Summit of Allies?

Prime Minister Macmillan Thursday hinted at a Western summit meeting to review existing Allied proposals on Germany.

"I am not prepared to say whether it will be necessary for the Western Allies to meet to conclude this review but I do not exclude this possibility," he said.

But Value Offsets Rise

Trading Stamps Mean Prices Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States survey shows that customers pay more for food at supermarkets which give trading stamps, but the added cost is more than offset by the value of the stamps.

The agriculture department, reporting this yesterday, said its study in 21 U.S. cities showed that food prices in stamp-giving stores averaged six-tenths of 1 per cent more than those in non-stamp supermarkets.

But the value of the stamps amounted to about 2 per cent of the money spent at stores giving stamps, the studies showed.

In a report on the study, the department said the use of stamps apparently has no significant effect on prices paid to the farmer.

But it noted this potential gain for purchasers:

"If the consumer pays six-tenths of 1 per cent more for food in the stamp-giving store but redeems his stamps at the rate of 2 per cent, he benefits by the extent of this difference. That is, if you don't count the time and trouble it takes to save and redeem these stamps."

The survey was made because of widespread use of stamps and because of legal and other controversies surrounding them.

The department estimated that in 1956, retailers spent $375,000,000 on stamps. It said about 168,000,000,000 stamps were distributed by these retailers on sales totalling about $20,000,000,000.

300 Attend Funeral Of Printer

Some 300 persons attended funeral services for Edward David Miles, 36, in Sands' funeral home yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Miles, a printer for The Daily Colonist, was injured Jan. 13 in a two-car collision at Ryan and Scott. He died Sunday in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Services were conducted by Rev. Douglas B. Carr of Centennial United Church. Burial was in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

U.S. Charges Inequality In Pricing

WASHINGTON (AP) —American Motors Corporation yesterday was charged with giving some retail customers an illegal price advantage over their competitors in the electrical appliance field.

The Federal Trade Commission complaint also named American Motors' subsidiary, American Motors Sales Corporation.

FTC said some retailers were charged about five per cent less than other retail customers.
